PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Vision-driven professor with career-long record of curriculum development, relationship management, and research success for teaching economics and women's and gender studies

Proven talent for aligning educational strategy and objectives with established curriculum development and relationship management paradigms to achieve maximum student growth with minimum resource expenditures. Growth-focused teacher with expertise spanning economics, women's and gender studies, business management, sociology, research, academic writing, publication processes, data analysis, statistics, and process improvement. Exceptionally dedicated professional with keen interpersonal, communication, and organizational skills, as well as budget management, policy management, and resource allocation expertise.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS, YASAR UNIVERSITY, BORNOVA, TURKEY, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR, LABOR ECONOMICS AND GENDER STUDIES, MARCH 2014 TO PRESENT, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR, APRIL 2011 TO MARCH 2014.

- Identify inefficiencies and design strategies to enhance student learning, including conducting research and disseminating findings, developing curricula, assessing students' needs, facilitating individual and group tutoring sessions, streamlining administrative processes.
- Align objectives and bridge communications with university administrators and co-workers to increase student and staff participation, equality of opportunities, commitment to university standards, and delivery of high-quality education.
- Organize quality assurance programmes to ensure compliance with university requirements.
- Mobilize cross-functional teams in developing and delivering modules in undergraduate and post-graduate courses.
- Author and publish articles, books, and other academic resources, such as Mind the Gap! The Road to Women Empowerment and "Women's Employment Status and Choice of Employment Sector in Turkey."
- Awarded the Jean Monnet Academic Module in 2018 for 3 years, as well as the TUBITAK Post Doctorate Research Scholarships in 2014.

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SANTA CRUZ, CA, USA, MARCH 2015 TO JUNE 2015
LECTURER

- Facilitated a productive learning environment by using good real life examples to explain concepts and made them easier to understand.
- Guided and strengthened relationships with students in economics courses by providing constructive feedback on graded work, monitoring their progress, and making topics more memorable.
- Educated students with curricula tailored to students' capabilities and interests while complying with university regulations and standards.
- Oversaw students' specialized research projects presented to the course.

DEPARTMENT OF WOMEN'S AND GENDER STUDIES, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY, CA, USA, AUGUST 2014 TO JUNE 2016

VISITING SCHOLAR/ADVISOR

- Partnered with department staff in creating and maintaining a good learning environment by providing exceptional academic support to undergraduate students both for routine and specialized studies.
- Design and implement curricula in regular lessons, creating presentations on specific topics.
- Mentored 11 undergraduate students working on their projects about women studies. These students wanted to work with me because of my specialization on the topics they decided to work on.
